

College of Geosciences Environmental Programs Open Meeting

The first open meeting of the College's Environmental Programs (BS Environmental Sciences and Environmental Geosciences) is open to all faculty and research scientists in the College. We encourage you to attend, find out more about the programs, and have your say in their future. An agenda will be posted on the Environmental Programs web site on December 1st.

O&M Building, Room 112

Thursday Dec 6th, 9.30-11.00

Coffee and cookies will be served

<http://enst.tamu.edu/>

If you plan to attend, or cannot attend but are interested in the programs please inform

Dr. Andrew Millington
(millington@tamu.edu)

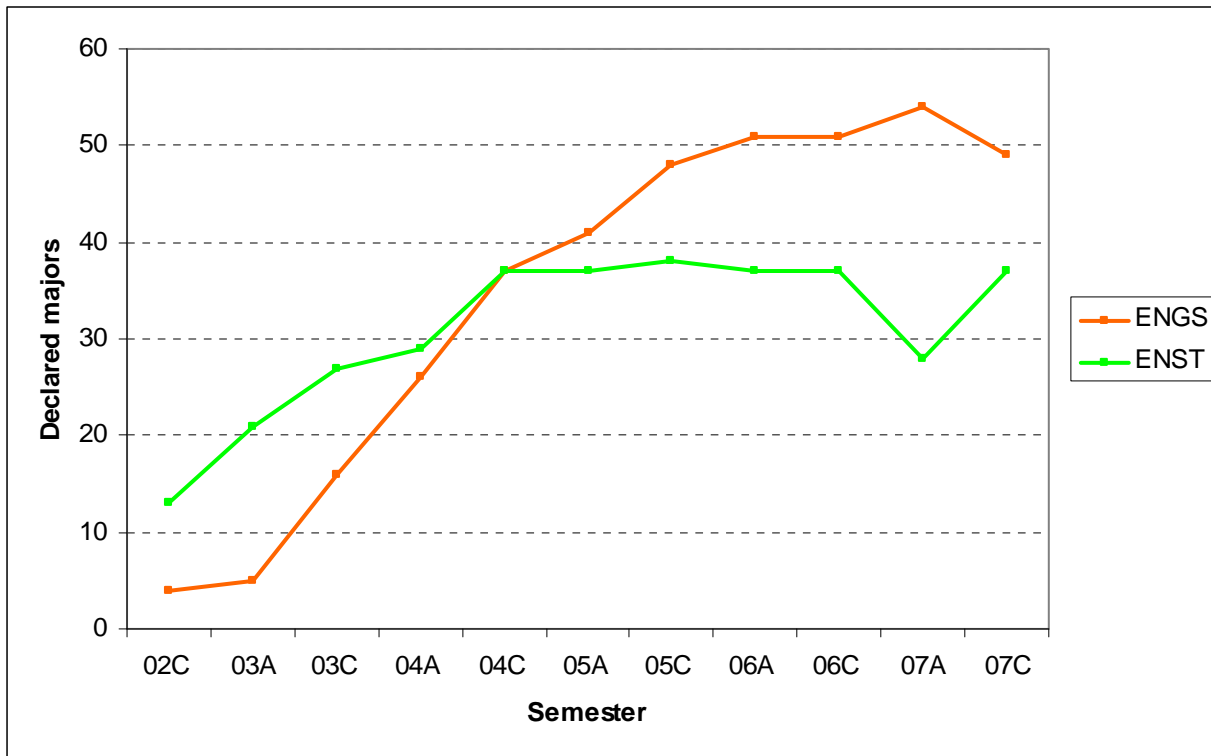

Environmental Programs

- Two degrees
 - Environmental Geosciences (ENGS)
 - Environmental Studies (ENST)
- First students
 - 2002
- ENST
 - Geography
- ENGS
 - Dean's Office
- First executive committee and director
 - 1st Jan 2007

Activities 2007

- Getting the degrees 'on track' by developing a modus operandi and a sense of community
 - Regular executive committee meetings
 - ENGS advising
 - Revised degree plans
 - New web site
 - New courses
 - GEOS289, GEOS489/689, second offering of GEOS410

ENGS and ENST majors registered – Fall 2002-Fall 2007

Faculty engagement

- Director and executive committee
- ENGS and ENST advisors
- Faculty offering GEOS courses
- Faculty offering other College courses

- Environmental faculty

Enhanced learning experience

- Revision to degree plans
 - Number of introductory courses
 - GEOS 105
 - GEOS 405
 - Environmental themes (ENGS only)
 - Seminar
- Other items
 - College-wide environmental stats course
 - Internships